Claim Objections

Claim 5 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from a multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n).

Accordingly, the claim has not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 6,770,162 in view of US 6,667,952 and US 2002/0037413.

US 6,770,162 discloses a sheet for making an optical recording medium comprising a curable resin for receiving a stamper and an adhesive layer. See Figure 1. It is recognized that the reference does not specify the storage modulus of the resin layer or the composition, modulus or adhesive strength of the adhesive layer. However, US 6,667,952, which also discloses stamper-receiving layer, does teach that the claimed storage modulus for the stamper-receiving layer is known. See col. 6. Further, US 2002/0037413 discloses that it is known to use pressure-sensitive adhesives having the claimed acrylic polymer with the claimed storage modulus and adhesive strength. See Table 1. . Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the stamper-receiving layer of the '952 reference and the adhesive of the '413 reference in the disclosed sheet of '162. One would have been motivated by the reasoned expectation of obtaining a sheet having the improved flexibility and adhesive properties disclosed.
